

BirdLife Partnership in the Central Asian Flyway

Nicola Crockford
BirdLife International

Central Asian Flyway Range State
Meeting, Delhi, India, 2-4 May 2023

BirdLife International

1 Partnership

World's largest nature conservation partnership

120 National Partners
10+ million supporters

2 Flyways

Active in all flyways

Enabling impact on the ground

3 Local to Global

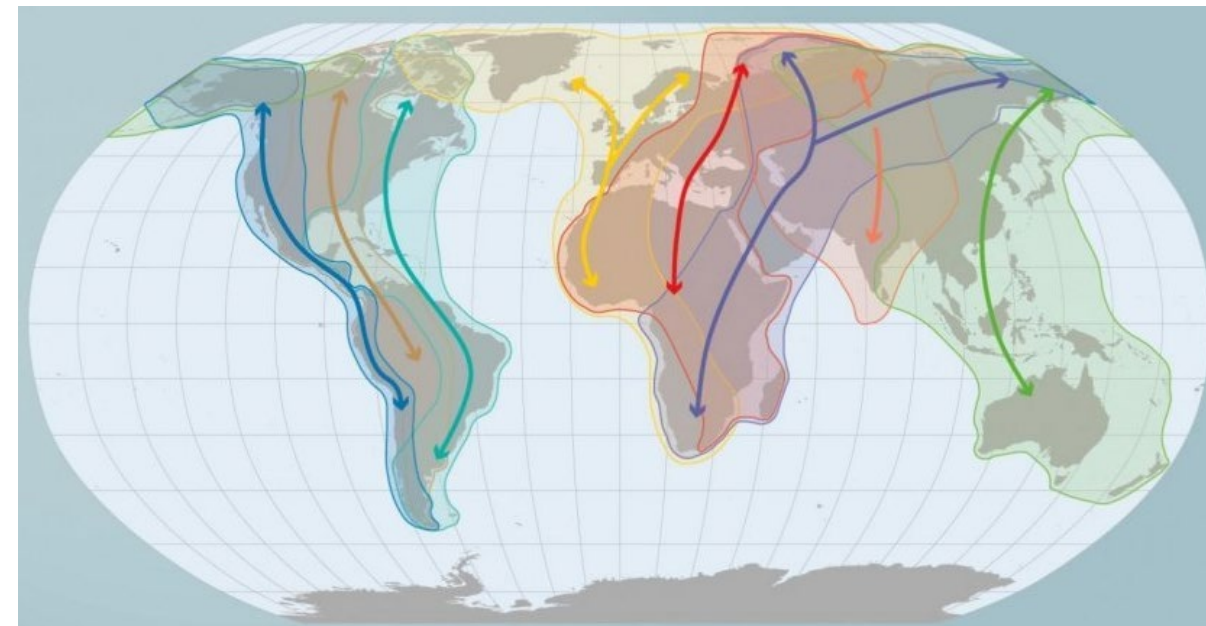

Local Communities

+

National Govts.

+

International Initiatives

BirdLife Central Asian Flyway Initiative (CAFI)

Strengthening migratory bird conservation

1. Launched in 2020 at CMS COP13
2. Uniting 10 BirdLife Partners across CAF
3. Strong network to deliver conservation action
4. ??Expecting strong outcomes for the CAF in COP14??

BirdLife in the Central Asian Flyway

Progress made

- 1. CAF Situation analysis - Review of present and emerging threats to migratory birds, basis for priority setting & planning – consultation draft in circulation
- 2. Conservation action. Support international & national species action.
Example 1: Steppe Eagle Kazakhstan. ACBK: Monitoring, Satellite tags & Safe Energy Initiative
Example 2: Black-necked Crane in Bhutan. RSPN, Managing wintering sites, Monitoring & Development Action Plan
- 3. Conservation capacity - Strengthen organisations to take action
BirdLife Partners supporting development of a strong CAF institutional framework, increasing communication across CAF

To CMS COP14 and beyond

Key messages

1. Collaboration is key! BirdLife ready to stimulate and be part of international collaboration with all CAF stakeholders
2. BirdLife-led Situation analysis provides basis for joint priorities to conserve migratory birds in CAF.
3. Outcomes CMS COP14 determine our success. This meeting crucial to define our joint ambitions.

The Central Asian Flyway Initiative

Contacts

Central Asia:

- Association for the Conservation of Biodiversity Kazakhstan (ACBK) acbk@acbk.kz
- Europe and Central Asia Secretariat BirdLife willem.vandenbossche@birdlife.org

Asia:

- Bombay Natural History Society (BNHS) director@bnhs.org
- Asia Secretariat BirdLife barend.vangemerden@birdlife.org

Middle East:

- Middle East Secretariat BirdLife muna.altaq@birdlife.org

Thank you!

Partnership for nature and people