MIGRATORY
SPECIES

UNEP/CMS/Resolution 12.18 (Rev. COP13)

Original: English

CONSERVATION OF THE AFRICAN WILD ASS (Equus africanus)

Adopted by the Conference of the Parties at its 13th Meeting (Gandhinagar, February 2020)

Concerned that the African Wild Ass is likely go extinct in the wild without immediate and decisive intervention,

Noting the dire global conservation status of the critically endangered African Wild Ass, which has a maximum of 200, and possibly as few as 50, mature individuals left in the wild, and experienced an approximate 90 per cent decline over its range since the 1980s,

Noting that it was once a widespread species across northern Africa and the Horn of Africa, and an intrinsic part of the ecosystem in that region,

Concerned about the unabated threats to the species, such as limited access to drinking water and lack of forage, recurrent and extreme droughts throughout the range, and its being hunted for food and medicinal purposes in some parts of the range.

The Conference of the Parties to the Convention on the Conservation of Migratory Species of Wild Animals
