INTRODUCTION AND OBJECTIVES

The Convention on Migratory Species (CMS) Energy Task Force (ETF) was established in 2016 to work towards reconciling renewable energy developments with the conservation of migratory species.

The ETF facilitates the use of best-practice guidance and promotes concrete action on the ground by bringing together governments, MEAs, NGOs, energy producers, financial and investment institutions and researchers.

Following on the approval of the ETF workplan 2021-2024, the 6th meeting of the ETF represents a unique opportunity to jointly revise its gaps, agree on the shared priorities and discuss the next steps towards our goal: a just transition to renewables that does not harm migratory species.
