

The 2016 Health Assessment for Marine Endangered Species International Training Course (23-30 June, 2016)

The training course will provide participants with marine endangered species issues about the crisis, forensic science, biology and anatomy, health assessment, medicine, necropsy and the other interested topic. There are not lecture only, but practice also as necropsy and diagnosis technique. The training course will be conducted between 23-30 June, 2016 at Anantara Si Kao Resort, Trang, Thailand. The necessary expenses for transportation and accommodation will be supported by DMCR.

The participant property:

- Work in Marine Endangered Species Field
- Biologist or Veterinarian
- High Interesting in the determined topic

To Apply:

- Please send the curriculum vitae to:
pearaom.1724@gmail.com or pearaom_1724@hotmail.com
- Deadline for applications: May 31, 2016

Phuket Biological Center

The Department of Marine and Coastal Resources