SIDE EVENT

Sustainable Rangelands for Pastoralists, Migratory Species and Climate Resilience

SATURDAY, 22 AUGUST 2026
15:00 - 16:30 hrs
Blue Zone, MET-04

Rangelands cover more than half of the Earth's land surface, and their sustainable management is essential for achieving global goals related to land degradation neutrality, food security, and biodiversity conservation.

This side event aims to promote implementation of CMS COP15 Decisions on Pastoralism utilizing synergies between CMS and UNCCD. Speakers will discuss challenges and outline potential solutions, by showcasing examples of sustainable pasture management approaches that integrate the conservation of migratory species and their habitats with support for local livelihoods.

Organized by: National Committee on Ecology and Climate Change of Uzbekistan, CMS Secretariat, Global Alliance for Rangelands and Pastoralists and Yolda Initiative
