Pulsatrix Birdwatching is an initiative specialized in ecotourism and birdwatching, operating in natural areas of Campo Grande, Mato Grosso do Sul, Brazil. Our work brings together science, local history, environmental education, and nature-based tourism, offering safe, interpretive experiences with high ecological value.

Contemplative Trails and Birdwatching in Urban Parks

Pulsatrix Birdwatching experiences take place in the Urban Parks of Campo Grande, combining contemplative trails with birdwatching activities. During the tours, participants learn about the history of the city, its settlement processes, and the biodiversity that has made Campo Grande the Capital of Birdwatching Tourism. The guiding approach is interpretive, encouraging a deep connection with nature and the observation of Cerrado bird species, always respecting the group's pace, environmental limits, and the principles of low-impact tourism.

Recommendations for Participants:

- Closed-toe shoes;
- Long pants;
- Long-sleeved shirts;
- Use of insect repellent.

Tours are conducted in small groups of up to 4 people, ensuring a higher-quality experience and reduced environmental impact.

Available Schedules, two-day duration:

- Morning: from 6:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.;
- Afternoon: from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Not included:

- Transportation to the activity sites;
- Meals.

Areas of Operation in Campo Grande – MS, Brazil

Activities are carried out in important green areas of the city:

- Parque Estadual do Prosa (PEP);
- Parque Estadual Matas do Segredo (PEMS);
- Parque das Nações Indígenas;
- CEA – Imbirussu.

These areas protect natural springs and are true urban sanctuaries within the city.
