ABOUT BRAZIL AND CAMPO GRANDE

Brazil

Brazil, officially the Federative Republic of Brazil, is the largest and easternmost country in South America. It is the world's fifth largest country by area and the seventh largest by population, with over 212 million people. The country is a federation composed of 26 states and a Federal District, which hosts the capital, Brasília. Its most populous city is São Paulo, followed by Rio de Janeiro. Brazil has the most Portuguese speakers in the world and is the only country in the Americas where Portuguese is an official language.

Bounded by the Atlantic Ocean in the east, Brazil has a coastline of 7,491 kilometres (4,655 mi). Covering roughly half of South America's land area, it borders all other countries and territories on the continent except Ecuador and Chile. Brazil encompasses a wide range of tropical and subtropical landscapes, as well as wetlands, savannas, plateaus and low mountains. It contains most of the Amazon basin, including the world's largest river system and most extensive virgin tropical forest. Brazil has diverse wildlife, a variety of ecological systems, and extensive natural resources spanning numerous protected habitats.

Campo Grande

Campo Grande (lit. "Great Field") is a modern, pleasant city in the central and western region of Brazil. It is the capital of the state of Mato Grosso do Sul. Founded by José Antônio Pereira, it is a planned city in the middle of a vast green space, with wide streets, tree-lined avenues and numerous public gardens.

In the past, the area was a waypoint for travellers who wanted to go from São Paulo or Minas Gerais to northern Mato Grosso by land. In the early 1900s, a railway was completed, connecting Campo Grande to Corumbá on the Bolivian border and to Bauru, São Paulo.

Campo Grande is the main gateway to the southern part of the Pantanal and to Bonito, a small town famous for its crystal clear waters located approximately 300 km away. Campo Grande is known in Brazil as the cidade morena (brown city) because of the local soil colour. Its inhabitants are called campo-grandenses.

The vegetation in Campo Grande and Central Brazil is a tropical savanna called Cerrado, which varies from pure grassland to a nearly closed canopy of medium-height trees overlaying grass.

ARRIVAL AT CAMPO GRANDE AIRPORT

Campo Grande Airport (CGR) is a domestic airport serving Campo Grande and the state of Mato Grosso do Sul. It is a relatively small airport, welcoming over 1,532,499 passengers a year. The airport is located in the northern part of the city, 7 km (4 mi) from downtown Campo Grande. It is served by two bus lines: 409 and 414. Taxi services are also available.

-  1 - Campo Grande City Center     2 - Campo Grande International Airport     3 - COP15 Venue Bosque Expo

The following airlines go to Campo Grande Airport:

Azul Brazilian Airlines, Gol Linhas Aéreas and LATAM Brasil.

Arriving participants may go to the CMS COP15 information desk for assistance inside the terminal. Bus transport to certain locations may be provided by the host government – to be confirmed.

The distance between the airport (CGR) and the city centre is 7 km. Many of the major hotels offer a shuttle service, which you can book in advance. For the cost of hotel transport, please consult your hotel.

Alternatively, participants may take a taxi. Please take only official, metered or pre-booked taxis. Taxis cost about R$32 and take less than 20 minutes.

ARRIVAL AT SÃO PAULO/GUARULHOS INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

Guarulhos International Airport (GRU) is the largest airport in Brazil and one of the largest in the world. If you fly internationally to Brazil, you will most likely transfer at GRU. Please note the following:

- You will need to pick up your luggage in the airport. Your luggage will not be forwarded to your final destination.
- You will need to bring your luggage with you through customs and then check it back in at the desk when you exit; all the major airlines have transfer check-in desks. There is no need to go all the way to the departure desk in order to do this.

The following international airlines go to Guarulhos International Airport:

Aerolíneas Argentinas, Aeroméxico, Air Canada, Air China, Air Europa, Air France, American Airlines, Arjet, Avianca, Boliviana de Aviación, British Airways, Copa Airlines, Delta Air Lines, Emirates, Iberia, ITA Airways, KLM, LATAM, Lufthansa, Royal Air Maroc, Sky Airline, Qatar Airways, South African Airways, Swiss International Air Lines, TAAG Angola Airlines, TAP Air Portugal, Turkish Airlines and United Airlines.

ARRIVING IN CAMPO GRANDE

Upon arrival, participants can visit the CMS COP15 information desk for assistance inside the terminal building.

At the time of writing, there is no transportation specifically for COP15 participants to and from the airport.

When using taxi services, including Uber and other ride-sharing apps, consider avoiding Uber Black, especially when travelling to the outskirts. In general, it is advisable to opt for taxi apps, particularly during the evening, rather than hailing taxis directly from the street.

- Use only registered taxis available at the airport

- For your own safety, take the seat behind the passenger seat
- Ensure the use of the meter or agree on the fare in advance
- Clearly note the driver’s ID number and licence number
- Official taxis are recognized by their white colour

VACCINATIONS

Required and recommended vaccinations:

Brazil does not require the yellow fever vaccine for foreign travellers or Brazilians travelling to Brazil.

Although it is not mandatory in Brazil, vaccination against yellow fever is recommended for all travellers, both foreign and Brazilian, at least ten days before the trip – the time it takes for the vaccine to create antibodies and for the person to be properly protected.

The World Health Organization (WHO) recommends the following vaccinations for travellers to Brazil:

Adult diphtheria and tetanus – Single booster recommended if none has been given in the previous 10 years. Side effects include a sore arm and fever.

Hepatitis A – Provides almost 100 per cent protection for up to a year; a booster after 12 months provides at least another 20 years' protection. Mild side effects such as a headache and a sore arm occur in 5 to 10 per cent of people.

Hepatitis B – Now considered routine for most travellers. Given as three shots over six months. A rapid schedule is also available, as is a combined vaccination with hepatitis A. Side effects are mild and uncommon, usually a headache and a sore arm. Lifetime protection occurs in 95 per cent of people.

Measles, mumps and rubella – Two doses of MMR required unless you have had the diseases. Occasionally a rash and flu-like illness can develop a week after receiving the vaccine. Many young adults require a booster.

Polio – Only one booster is required as an adult for lifetime protection.

Typhoid – Recommended unless your trip is less than a week. The vaccine offers around 70 per cent protection, lasts for two to three years and comes as a single shot. Tablets are also available; however, the injection is usually recommended as it has fewer side effects. A sore arm and fever may occur.

Varicella – If you have not had chickenpox, discuss this vaccination with your doctor.

COVID-19 – Recommended for all.

The following are recommended only for long-term travellers or for travellers going to rural areas:

Meningitis – Single injection. There are two types of vaccination: the quadrivalent vaccine gives two to three years' protection; meningitis group C vaccine gives around 10 years' protection. Recommended for long-term travellers aged under 25.

Rabies – Three injections in all. A booster after one year will then provide 10 years' protection. Side effects are rare – occasionally a headache and sore arm.

Tuberculosis – Adult long-term travellers are usually recommended to have a TB skin test before and after travel, rather than a vaccination. Only one vaccine is given in a lifetime.

There is elevated chikungunya risk in Brazil. A chikungunya vaccination may be considered for people planning to stay for an extended period of time.

Some diseases in Brazil – such as Dengue, Zika, Leishmaniasis and Chagas disease – are spread by bugs and cannot be prevented with a vaccine. Cover exposed skin by wearing long-sleeved shirts, long pants and hats. Use an appropriate insect repellent. Stay and sleep in air-conditioned or screened rooms. Use a bed net if the area where you are sleeping is exposed to the outdoors. Use a repellent that contains 20% or more DEET for protection that lasts up to several hours.

TRAVEL AND MEDICAL INSURANCE

All travelling participants are recommended to have valid travel and medical insurance covering their period of stay in Brazil.

The CMS Secretariat disclaims all responsibility for medical, accident and travel insurance, for compensation for death or disability, for loss of or damage to personal property and for any other loss that may be incurred during travel time or the period of participation. It is therefore strongly recommended that, prior to departure, participants secure international insurance for the period of participation.

WEATHER

In March, Campo Grande typically experiences very high temperatures and heavy rainfall. In the daytime, temperatures tend to hover around 31°C, cooling down at night to around 22°C.

Rainfall in March averages around 157 mm for the month. Climate statistics over the past 30 years suggest around 13 days of rain.

The days are predominantly sunny, with an estimated total of around 210 hours of sunshine for the month.

CURRENCY AND USE OF CREDIT CARDS

The national currency of Brazil is the Brazilian real (pl. reais; sign: R$; code: BRL); 1R$ is made up of 100 centavos. This currency has been in circulation in Brazil since 1994 and today is the only means of payment. There are banknotes of the following value: 2, 5, 10, 20, 50 and 100. All the banknotes differ in colour. The notes depict Brazilian animals like the hawksbill turtle and jaguar.

Credit cards are accepted by most hotels, shops and restaurants in Brazil.

The exchange rate as of November 2025 is 1 US dollar = 5.33 BRL.

OFFICIAL LANGUAGE IN BRAZIL

The official language of Brazil is Portuguese. Aside from Portuguese, the country also has numerous minority languages, including over 200 different Indigenous languages, such as Nheengatu (a descendant of Tupi), and languages of more recent European and Asian immigrants, such as Italian, German and Japanese.

ELECTRICAL CURRENT AND POWER SOCKET TYPE

Brazil uses a standard voltage of 127/220V with a 60Hz frequency, and type C and N power sockets (please see image below). Visitors may need a power adapter for their plugs and should check if their devices are compatible with the different voltages; a voltage converter might be necessary.

TIME ZONE

Time in Brazil is calculated using standard time, and the country (including its offshore islands) is divided into four standard time zones: Fernando de Noronha time (UTC-02:00), Brasília time (UTC-03:00), Amazon time (UTC-04:00) and Acre time (UTC-05:00). Campo Grande uses Amazon time (UTC-04:00).

SAFETY AND SECURITY

Police – 190
Ambulance – 192
Firefighters – 193

CODE OF CONDUCT

All participants are expected to behave with integrity and respect towards all other persons attending or involved with the meeting. Discrimination, harassment, including sexual harassment, abuse of authority, and sexual abuse and exploitation will not be tolerated at the meeting.
