

Format for reports of Parties on implementation of the Convention on the Conservation of Migratory Species of Wild Animals (revision of June 2003)

Reporting format agreed by the Standing Committee at its 26th Meeting (Bonn, June 2003) for mandatory use by Parties, for reports submitted to the Eighth Meeting of the Conference of the Parties (COP8) (Nairobi, 2005).

The questions below combine elements of Resolution 4.1 (Party Reports) adopted by the Fourth Meeting of the Conference of the Parties (Nairobi, June 1994) and Resolution 6.4 (Strategic Plan for the Convention on Migratory Species 2000-2005), adopted by the Sixth Meeting of the Conference of the Parties (Cape Town, November 1999), as well as commitments arising from other operational Resolutions and Recommendations of the Conference of the Parties.

Please refer to the separate instructions on completing the report. Parties are encouraged to respond to all questions, since it cannot be assumed that the absence of a response indicates that no activities taken have place in the current reporting period. Parties are also requested to provide comprehensive answers, including, where appropriate, a summary of activities, information on factors limiting action and details of any assistance required.

Which agency has been primarily responsible for the preparation of this report? State Committee for Nature Protection of the Republic of Uzbekistan. List any other agencies that have provided input: Institute of Zoology of Uzbekistan Academy of Science. Uzbekistan Zoological Society

3	Summarise information on population size, trends and distribution (if known): 1 breeding pair is known from Sudochie wetland (North of Uzbekistan, Karakalpakstan Autonomy) in 2000-2002, first conformed breeding of WTSE in Uzbekistan. It is usual migratory and wintering species within plain wetlands of Uzbekistan, sometimes occurring in significant accumulations on the islands of large lakes – 20-30 birds in the roosting places together, often migrate and winter by families (2 adult birds + 1 young) which keep each other before spring. During winter and migration on the water-bodies with significant accumulations of waterfowls the high number of WTSE can gather – from 15-20 to 50-70 eagles at the same time. The expert assessment of wintering birds is more than 350-400 in Uzbekistan. (Expert assessment by E. Kreuzberg and Ye.Lanovenko)

Last decade the distribution within new wetlands on the south of Uzbekistan is observed – from Aydar, Karakir lakes to Amudarya valley near Termez. Usually recorded in the flocks from 15 to 30 – 40 individuals. On the inquest data – the most rare than Greylag, but last years can be observed regularly (expert assessment by E. Kreuzberg). In the Amudarya flood-land near Termez in January 2003 and 2005 we sow flack about 150 and 500 birds (Ye.Lanovenko).

3	Summarise information on population size, trends and distribution (if known): This species was known as almost extinct in republic, before beginning of 1990 th , when the breeding hatches were discovered on the small lakes near Bukhara ecocenter. Researches conducted in this time allowed to study the breeding biology and ecology in the conditions of Uzbekistan. In 1996 – 1997 there was conducted the species survey in Bukhara region, which shown the current distribution of Marbled teal in Bukhara region of Uzbekistan. Later there was conducted the species monitoring in the places where it was found, which shown that species status is unstable and depended from water-fluctuation in the secondary water-reservoirs of the desert zone. At the same time, there is a tendency of species adaptation to new conditions which should be studies (expert assessment by E. Kreuzberg). Sometimes few birds wintering in Southern Uzbekistan in Bukhara region. In 2004 we sow one flock about 100 birds on the bank of Dengizkul Lake (Ye.Lanovenko)

3	Summarise information on population size, trends and distribution (if known): Ferruginous Duck is not yet so threatened as some other species in Uzbekistan. It is quite usual during breeding and migration. During breeding it is found on the small secondary water-reservoirs in Uzbekistan and in the natural lakes where having the good breeding success. Migration in Uzbekistan is observed in September – beginning of October when flocks from 5-12 to 30-40 birds can be observed, during wintering last years mostly single birds and small flocks are observed (expert assessment by E. Kreuzberg).

3	Summarise information on population size, trends and distribution (if known): This species was almost unknown in Uzbekistan before autumn of 1999 when the large accumulations of WHD on the Sudochie lake (near Aral Sea) were observed during migration in October, and in this season (winter) the wintering accumulations were found on Dengizkul lake (south of Bukhara region on the boundary with Turkmenistan). The further observations has shown that the wintering zone of WHD has distributed in the secondary water-reservoirs of Bukhara region, but main accumulations (about 5 thousand) still are kept on Dengizkul lake during wintering. About 1200 birds and 35 breeds were counted in breeding season 2000 in the Sudochie Lake. At the same time there is observed the shift of breeding birds from North to South. The analysis of current situation will be made in the end of 2005 after execution of special project on WHD and preparation of its single species Action Plan (expert assessment by E. Kreuzberg and Ye.Lanovenko).
